

Students Select Nominees For SGA Honor Council

After a student body meeting on February 11 at which nominations for president of SGA and Honor Council were taken from the floor, five candidates accepted the nominations yesterday, February 12.

The three candidates for Student Government president are: Betsy Hopkins, of Norfolk, Roberta Garverick, from Concord, California, and Nancy Moncure of Alexandria. The candidates for Honor Council president are: Rose Bennett and Carol Faison, both from Richmond. All students are members of the junior class.

During the first week after mid-semester vacation the nominating committee comprised of the four executive members of SGA and members of Honor Council selected six candidates for SGA president and four nominees for Honor Council.

Of these selections only one candidate accepted the nomination for SGA and two accepted for Honor Council. None of the nominees presented from the floor on February 11 accepted for Honor Council; Betsy Hopkins was the only student nominated from the floor who agreed to run for Student Government.

Rose Bennett, Honor Council candidate, is 20 years old and an English major working in the related field of art. Formerly vice-president of the freshman class, president of the sophomore class, Rose is currently house president of Willard dormitory and a member of the Bullet staff.

Carol Faison, 20 years old, and an Honor Council candidate, is a major in Spanish. Presently house president of Betty Lewis, Carol is a member of Phi Sigma Iota, Glee Club. Before transferring to MWC in her sophomore year, she was the secretary of her freshman class at Westhampton College.

One of the three candidates for SGA is Betsy Hopkins, 20, and a psychology major. A member of Y cabinet, vice-president of Alpha Phi Sigma, and house council member for a year in Randolph, Betsy is now a freshman counselor of Betty Lewis.

Roberta (Bobbie) Garverick, an English major, has participated in class benefits, was on the Westmoreland Art Committee, Exchange editor of the Epaulet, and See Candidates, Page 7

Junior Class Plans For Annual Benefit Bridge Stops Show

By ANN STINCHCOMB

The Junior Class has come up with an outstanding new idea for benefits! The first truly original idea for benefits—that of giving a colossal campus-wide bridge party—has been innovated by the Class of 1960.

The Bridge Benefit will be open to everyone on campus and their dates. The Benefit is not limited to bridge. Samba, canasta, black jack, cribbage, trippoli or any other card game may be played throughout the evening.

The Ball Room in Ann Carter Lee will be the setting for the party. Guests may make up their own tables before they arrive or after they come to the Benefit. There will be entertainment in the form of singing and dancing between 10:30 p.m. and 11:30 p.m. while the tallies are being counted.

Door prizes will be given away and bridge prizes will go to those making the highest scores during the evening. Free refreshments will be served to all those attending the Benefit. There will be homemade brownies and cakes on sale also. Music will be played in the course of the entire evening.

The juniors plan to hold their Benefit on Thursday evening, February 26, 1959 from 8:15 p.m. until 12:00 midnight. Late permissions will be granted to everyone attending, including those girls with dates. Tickets will go on sale one week preceding the Benefit and will be sold at the door the night of the party if there are any left over.

The Junior Class should be congratulated on coming up with the first really original idea on Benefits in the past years. The Bridge Benefit proves that there is a positive, forward-looking attitude among the students at MWC concerning the Benefits.

MWC Elects Cheng as Queen

Sieu Hsing Cheng, newly chosen May Queen, will reign over Mary Washington College's May Day Festivities.

Smiling and poised in a white satin Chinese evening dress, Sieu Cheng accepted a bouquet of roses in Ball as a token of her election as May Queen of Mary Washington College for 1959, on Wednesday, February 11.

Chosen as Maid of Honor was Margie Chrisman of Winchester, Virginia. Formal announcement of the results of these elections by Barbara Lewis, editor of the Battlefield, came at 11 p.m. in Ball where May Queen and Senior court candidates assembled. In a parlor crowded with seniors, the members of the May Court, the Maid of Honor and the Queen walked down the wide winding staircase to accept their elections.

Representatives of the senior class in the May Court are Jane Howard, a sociology major from Chevy Chase, Maryland, Karen Johnston, a music major from Salem, Edith Sheppard, from Richmond, majoring in psychology and Stevie Conover, an economics major from Montclair, N. J.

The newly elected queen was born in the Chang Tung province of China. A member of the Oriental Club, Sieu is an art major. Several of her graphic works have been on display in duPont during the year.

Margie Chrisman, Maid of Honor of the 1959 Court, is a home economics major and was a member of the May Court her freshman year. Margie is the formal dance chairman and a member of Who's Who in American Colleges and Universities. She was also chosen as MWC's representative as the best dressed girl in the Glamour Magazine contest in 1958.

Representatives to the May Court from other classes were not chosen until Thursday, February 12, and today. All members of the Court must have an over all C average in order to participate.

This is the first time in the history of the College that anyone not an American citizen has been chosen for this honor.

Members of the Battlefield staff counted the votes which were made on preferential ballots. The results were known by 10 p.m. but were held in order to announce the queen to the senior class as a body.

Lehigh University Glee Club Performs; Schedules Concert On Campus Feb. 14

The Lehigh University Glee Club, from Bethlehem, Pennsylvania will give a concert in George Washington Hall at 8:00, February 14.

Conductor of the Lehigh men is Professor Robert Cutler, head of the Music Department and formerly an instructor in the Department of Music at New York University.

The principal accompanist, Barry Bergman, an outstanding pianist from Reading, Pennsylvania is a student of electrical engineering.

The group of 12 men, known as the Cliff Clefs will provide entertainment with their selections of Aura Lee, Winter Song and Love's Old Sweet Song.

Other selections to be rendered by the chorus include Laus Deo, five Italian mountain songs, three Negro spirituals, songs of Lehigh, conducted by Donald Foster, '59 and finale Lady in the Dark by Tschalkowsky.

Soloists are Richard Jones, '62 and Joseph Pittenger, '61.

The Lehigh University Glee Club will be the guest of the Mary Washington College Chorus for dinner and a dance.

Forum To Feature Discussion on Labor In Monroe, Feb. 16

The Mary Washington Student Forum will present as its program on next Monday, February 16, representatives from the opposing camps of the labor question of the right-to-work versus the union shop.

Mr. William Jobe, Jr., a member of the United States Chamber of Commerce, will speak for the right to work in a debate with Mr. O. J. Mischer, secretary-treasurer of the Amalgamated Association of Sheet and Electric Railway Employees of America, who will represent the AFL-CIO union shop interests.

Miss Barbara Bache will act as moderator for the program which will be presented in Monroe Auditorium at 7 p.m.

A noteworthy fact is that both speakers are interested parties who have agreed to come to Mary Washington in order to present views that are their own and which they will be quite willing to debate freely. They represent two national organizations which stand opposed on the right to work question.

Science Fraternity Sponsors Auction

Chi Beta Phi, the honorary natural science fraternity, will sponsor an auction tonight, February 13, 1959, in Monroe Hall at seven o'clock.

This auction is a project organized for the purpose of establishing two $200 scholarships which will be offered to girls who have a major concerned with one of the natural sciences. The recipients of these scholarships will be decided upon according to their need and their grades. A committee of faculty members will select them.

Dr. Alan S. Pierce, Dr. Carroll H. Quenzel, and Dr. Hobart C. Carter are to be the auctioneers. The articles to be auctioned have been donated by various concerns in Fredericksburg and various college clubs and organizations on campus.

Some of the merchants of Fredericksburg have donated sweaters, and stationery. Several professors have donated meals at their homes, records, books, cakes, cookies, and samples of their own artistic abilities.

Beazley, Kirksey Accept New Editorships

Margaretta Kirksey has been appointed News Editor of the Bullet, and Hilda Beazley is the new Assistant News Editor for 1959-60. The appointments came as a result of the resignation of Vicki Biggers, former News Editor. Vicki, a sophomore from Elgin, Illinois resigned upon her transfer to Northwestern University.

Margaretta, former Assistant News Editor is a sophomore from Eutaw, Alabama, and a political science major. She is a member of the YWCA Social Committee, International Relations Club, and a member of the Mademoiselle College Board. She represented Greene County in the Alabama Maid of Cotton Contest.

Hilda Beazley, an English major, is a junior from Aylett, Virginia. She has served on the Student Welfare Committee, Mason's publicity committee, and the Student Handbook committee. Hilda has previously worked on the Bullet as a reporter.

The news editor of the Bullet is responsible for covering administrative offices and in gathering news material for each editorial board meeting. She also assigns stories to members of the staff for each issue.

The assistant news editor covers the regular beats and assigns special news stories. Both Marge and Hilda are now members of the Editorial Board.

The College Versus The Law

Dear to the hearts of most students is the hope and desire that the present drinking rule will be modified. Upon attaining the age of 21 each young woman is given the privilege to vote in her state and in her country's elections; she may marry and have children without applying for parental permission; she may teach the children of others; she will shortly pay taxes.

Although the federal and state governments recognize the responsibility of persons 21 or more, the College does not. No student is allowed to go either with her parents, her husband, her fiancé, or her date to any place within a 30 mile radius of Fredericksburg and drink any alcoholic beverage.

Regardless of whether some students or faculty disapprove or approve of drinking, the matter for those attending a state school should be one of personal choice upon reaching the legal age of 21 and in conjunction always with prescribed state law.

To many people a social drink is part of social amenities; because a young woman drinks does not make her any less of a lady. By the time she is 21 most girls are engrained with the acceptable patterns of behavior taught her by her parents and by her association with the College. If she is not a lady by then, she will not be one whether she drinks or not.

In past years a serious offense was to sit in any parked car, on campus or off, with a date, a fiancé, or husband, and there was a flagrant disregard for the rule. It was repealed and nothing that could be considered disgraceful has occurred. Such is the situation now in regard to the drinking rule of the College.

The administration should issue identification cards with pictures and birth dates stamped thereon. Only students 21 and over could legally drink and the law should be strictly enforced.

Although the College may feel it cannot completely remove all regulations on drinking in one fell swoop, now is the time for changing the radius limit around Fredericksburg. By allowing students to drink within 5 or 10 miles of Fredericksburg, the administration would be making a progressive step toward full acceptance of student responsibility.

Doubtless there will be a great outcry from certain quarters to any modification in the drinking rule, and the College would probably be hard put to maintain good relations with this group for a short period of time. However, the College should attempt to reconcile the objections of this faction to the wishes and rights of members of the student body who are of full legal age.

Elections: A Time To Think

Elections will soon be coming up. Minor office elections are as important as those for major offices. Now is the time to begin thinking whom you would like to see in a particular office.

We are lucky enough, in this country, to be able to vote democratically for whatever candidate we choose. Unfortunately, many times we are either too lazy to make use of our vote, or even worse, we use it unwisely—without giving it any thought.

Voting can be a very easy thing to do if you merely vote for someone because she's your best friend or because she's part of your "gang". But voting should involve more than this. We should take into consideration the qualifications which are necessary for a certain office, and we should also take into consideration whether one's candidate fulfills those qualifications or not.

When you are asked to vote you should feel ready to do so. To be ready means that you have carefully and objectively studied each candidate and chosen, to the best of your ability, that candidate whom you think will execute her duties wisely, smoothly, and efficiently. Think before you vote.

Kingston Trio Tops In MWC Popularity; Mathis Rates High

By ROSALEE BENSON

Gaining in popularity among MWC students is a vocal recording group known as the Kingston Trio. This unique set is comprised of Bob Shane, Nick Reynolds, and Dave Guard, who organized the trio in 1956. Since then they have become more and more in demand.

Typical of their style is a variety of tempo and emotion. They amazingly adapt themselves to the atmosphere of each song. This is evident in their two albums, "The Kingston Trio," and "... from the Hungry I."

Tom Dooley

These albums contain a variety of songs ranging from calypso to melancholy ballads. Probably the most famous of their melancholy ballads is their hit, "Tom Dooley," whose mournful strains can be heard echoing throughout the campus.

In addition to singing, all three play the guitar. Two also play the banjo while the third plays the conga drums. The Kingston Trio has made a number of personal appearances at such places as Mr. Kelly's in Chicago, the Village Vanguard and Blue Angel in New York, and San Francisco's "Hungry I."

Rising Vocalist

Ranking high in the estimation of many a college student is the successful vocalist, Johnny Mathis. His rapid rise to stardom is indicative of a promising and enduring spot in the field of top entertainment. Like the Kingston Trio, he has also appeared at the Blue Angel, the Copacabana, and many other top-flight entertainment spots.

He has developed his own particular style of singing. In this style he equally combines the importance of the lyrics and melody. Although his ballads predominate, he is capable of changing the beat to slower or more progressive rhythm. Many of his older recorded ballads still are regularly played, such as, "A Certain Smile," "Wonderful! Wonderful!" and "The Twelfth of Never."

Students Prescribe Remedies In Conduction of Campaigns

What ways can you suggest to help the student body know the ideas and goals of candidates in major campus elections?

How can the student body become familiar with the ideas and goals of a candidate in one of our major elections? This question requires serious consideration, because in recent years there very obviously has been a lack of interest in the important issue. If we expect an excellent term of office from our campus leaders, then we should take a little initiative and actively participate in the campaign.

Too much importance has been placed upon the one night speeches of the candidates. The students are even unaware of those girls running for the election until the latter are presented on the stage of G.W. There must be a campus-wide campaign, perhaps for the duration of two weeks. During this time, the candidates could have an opportunity to visit the various dormitories. In this informal atmosphere, the girls are able to ask questions of the candidate, and become better acquainted with her platform.

Publicity plays the most important role in campaigns, and this just happens to be one of our deficits in elections. Committees should be appointed by each candidate, and she herself should supervise the constructing posters and placing them in Ann Carter Lee, along with a mimeographed sheet of her platform.

If both the candidates and the students co-operate in such a campaign, then the two parties will be exerting their best efforts. There will be an ardent interest in elections, and no longer will voting be considered merely as a duty or obligation.

SUE SCHAFER—61

With the approach of the Student Government Association elections one big problem becomes apparent—the lack of an opportunity to meet and know the candidates.

In past years this has been remedied by panel discussions with the candidates participating in it, by short speeches in the auditorium, and by buzz sessions in each dormitory with candidates present. Still the problem seems to persist. Is it a lack of interest on the part of the student body in elections? Does the student body realize the importance of the officers and the need to elect highly qualified candidates?

If more campaigning could take place, but in an orderly fashion, the students may have a better opportunity to judge and to select the candidate best qualified. And if the students would make a special effort to know the candidates and take advantage of all opportunities offered to meet them, the problem could be remedied.

PAT GARVIN—61

The first point in any election is the nominating of candidates for office. On a college level, this tends to become an aimless farce.

One nominates her best or close friend, whether she is properly qualified for the position or not. A suggestion in regard to solving this problem would be for the nominator to state, when nominating, the qualifications which she believes the nominee to have.

After the candidates have been chosen the real campaigning should begin. Each candidate should select a campaign manager to distribute posters and perhaps candidate name buttons. These means would add enthusiasm and interest to the campaign.

Each candidate should also be given equal time to voice her (See Views, page 5)

Mid-Winter Dances Brighten Schedules

This week-end the Mid-Winter dances are being held at V.M.I. in Lexington. There will be a dance Friday night, and another one is scheduled for Saturday night.

Next week-end is Mid-Winters at U.Va. The Glenn Miller Orchestra, under the direction of Ray McKenley, is to play for the dance. Chris Connor and the Buddy Rich Quintet are scheduled to appear at the afternoon concert.

Winter Germans are this week-end at the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill. Les Brown and Buddy Morrow will play for the Germans and Cotillion Dances on February 13 at V.P.I.

The Dartmouth Carnival, held last week-end at Hanover, New Hampshire, set the record for being the coldest carnival in its history; despite the cold, though, from all reports, it was the best one yet.

Hollins College will celebrate Founder's Day next week-end. At this time the Jesse Ball duPont Chapel will be dedicated in a service at which the Reverend John Baillie, Dean of Divinity at the University of Edinburgh, will deliver the sermon. The Hollins College Choir will sing at this service.

An anthem, "The Gate of Heaven," will be heard for the first time. It was written especially for the program by Randal Thompson. There will be an organ recital by Mr. Fenner Douglass from Oberlin College and a play by Kermit Hunter will be presented.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

In the January 23 issue of the Bullet several students gave their opinions of the conditions in the dining hall in general and in particular.

Certainly I would admit that the food in the dining hall is not exactly the same quality or quantity that I am accustomed to eating at home. But I think that on the whole the food at Seacobeck is pretty darn good considering the number of people Mr. Robison has to feed and the budget he has to keep. After four years at MWC I am tired of institutional food, whether it be excellent, fair or plain rotten.

The dining hall staff goes out of its way to try to cater to the whims of 1500 girls. If anybody ever stopped to think what a trial it is for any mother to try and feed four children who all have different likes and dislikes, they might have an idea of the problems of Mr. Robison on a very minute scale.

In my opinion lunches are better than dinners solely because there is more of a variety and if you don't like cheese sandwiches, you can always have soup. No institutional food is going to compare to home cooking unless you can afford to dine at the Waldorf every night.

Hearing other girls compare the food at MWC to other colleges makes me sick. They haven't eaten at William and Mary, University of Michigan or a few more places I could mention where food isn't even recognizable, let alone edible. Most students would be pretty content to eat at Seacobeck if they had to live on the food served in most universities for just a week.

I would suggest that students who think the food at MWC is so bad try cooking for themselves for awhile and see if they think their own cooking is so much better.

Integration Begins In Virginia

For the first time in the history of Virginia, Negroes have entered white public schools. Integration came to Virginia after the state Supreme Court of Appeals and a three judge Federal court struck down the state's "massive resistance" laws and Gov. Almond was barred from using "evasive schemes" to preserve school segregation.

Almond accepted the decision and told the Virginia Legislature that he would not use state police or troops to block Federal court orders to proceed with desegregation. Almond turned down segregationists who begged him to take any step necessary to thwart the Federal court orders. All Virginia can do now, Almond said, is keep integration to a minimum.

With Arlington and Norfolk gone, other Virginia cities have begun tottering. Charlottesville has been given a court reprieve, until September, to work out its plans.

The fall of Fortress Virginia, the South's great bastion in the struggle to hold off school integration, marked a major defeat for the south in the nation's massive civil rights battle. The six Southern states that still have no school integration — Alabama, Florida, Georgia, Louisiana, Mississippi, and South Carolina — have looked to Virginia not only as the South's intellectual leader, but also as its legal strategist. Virginia, in setting up the complex structure of "massive resistance" laws in 1955 and 1956, deliberately set out to show the states how they could legally maintain the old, segregated system. Other states such as Georgia, Alabama, and Louisiana, actually patterned some of their own anti-integration laws on the Virginia plan.

There is much speculation as to what the next step on the part of Virginians will be. Although the courts have outlawed previous plans for segregation, there seems to be a strong reluctance to accept integration in the schools. The Legislature is presently recommending a bill to repeal the present compulsory school law.

Only a few years ago Virginians had been saying they would never surrender, even to token integration. However, the time has come when they are no longer able to evade the integration court order. They must either comply with the order or take more decided steps to keep Virginia schools segregated. The nation, and mainly the south, is anxious to see what the state will do.

Students Will Use Preferential Ballot

To unexpected freshmen and even to the all-knowing upperclassmen, the casting of a vote in the campus election can be a complicated matter. For MWC students use a unique but seemingly intricate ballot called the preferential.

When the student is confronted with a list of candidates for a particular office, she cannot merely select one. Instead, beginning with the number one, she must arrange the group in a descending hierarchy.

For example, if four candidates are on the ballot for student government president, each voter will assign a number from one through four beside each candidate's name. This method of balloting, of course, is an added responsibility to the student who necessarily must know something about each candidate. However, an election by preferential ballot insures the election of a person who is ranked highly by the majority of most of the voters.

Simpson Announces Prof's Retirement; Natalie Nason Joins MWC Faculty

Chancellor Grellet C. Simpson has announced the retirement of Mrs. Frances Ramey Mooney, associate professor of social science at Mary Washington College and a member of the faculty since 1929.

A graduate of State Teachers College, Edmond, Oklahoma and the University of Oklahoma, Mrs. Mooney has a master's degree from George Peabody College. She is a member of the National Council of Geography Teachers and a past president of the geography section of the Virginia Education Association. Her classes for the semester beginning February 2 will be taken by Miss Natalie Nason, a graduate of the University of Maine and Clark University where she obtained her M.A.

Miss Nason, who was in the Waves during World War II, was a teaching principal in an American school in Sumatra May, 1956, to last July. She has recently returned from Indonesia, having spent the past four months in South Asia, the Middle West, the Soviet Union and Europe. Previously she had been with the United States Air Force in charge of its education program in Tokyo and Itazuke, Japan, and on the faculty of Arostook State Teachers College in Presque Isle, Maine.

Also appointed for the second semester are Mrs. Cornelia Oliver of Ashland, B.A., Smith College and M.A., Duke University, as part time instructor of art, and Miss Janet Thomason of Morgantown, West Va., B.S. and M.S., West Virginia University, as instructor in health, physical education and recreation. Mrs. Oliver was an art instructor here in 1954-55. While doing graduate work, Miss Thomason was a student supervisor of women's intramural program.

Students To Represent College At College Board

Vici Lou Rogers, a senior, and Margaretta Kirksey, a junior, will represent Mary Washington this year on Mademoiselle's national College Board.

They were among 784 students who competed with applicants from colleges all over the country to win places on the Board, according to Mademoiselle.

As College Board members, Vici and Marge will represent MWC and will report to Mademoiselle on college life and the college scene. Each girl will complete two assignments in writing, editing, fashion, advertising or art, in competition for the twenty Guest Editorships to be awarded by the magazine at the end of May.

The Guest Editors will be brought to New York for four weeks next June to help write, edit and illustrate Mademoiselle's 1959 August College issue. Their transportation will be paid to and from New York and they will receive a regular salary for their work.

In addition to their work on the magazine, Guest Editors will interview outstanding men and women in their chosen fields to help clarify their career aims.

Judy Zuczek, a junior, was also appointed by Mademoiselle as campus representative under the magazine's Campus Merchandising Plan.

We are lucky enough, in this country, to be able to vote democratically for whatever candidate we choose. Unfortunately, many times we are either too lazy to make use of our vote, or even worse, we use it unwisely—without giving it any thought.

Voting can be a very easy thing to do if you merely vote for someone because she's your best friend or because she's part of your "gang". But voting should involve more than this. We should take into consideration the qualifications which are necessary for a certain office, and we should also take into consideration whether one's candidate fulfills those qualifications or not.

When you are asked to vote you should feel ready to do so. To be ready means that you have carefully and objectively studied each candidate and chosen, to the best of your ability, that candidate whom you think will execute her duties wisely, smoothly, and efficiently. Think before you vote.

Kingston Trio Tops In MWC Popularity; Mathis Rates High

By ROSALEE BENSON

Gaining in popularity among MWC students is a vocal recording group known as the Kingston Trio. This unique set is comprised of Bob Shane, Nick Reynolds, and Dave Guard, who organized the trio in 1956. Since then they have become more and more in demand.

Typical of their style is a variety of tempo and emotion. They amazingly adapt themselves to the atmosphere of each song. This is evident in their two albums, "The Kingston Trio," and "... from the Hungry 1."

Tom Dooley

These albums contain a variety of songs ranging from calypso to melancholy ballads. Probably the most famous of their melancholy ballads is their hit, "Tom Dooley," whose mournful strains can be heard echoing throughout the campus.

In addition to singing, all three play the guitar. Two also play the banjo while the third plays the conga drums. The Kingston Trio has made a number of personal appearances at such places as Mr. Kelly's in Chicago, the Village Vanguard and Blue Angel in New York, and San Francisco's "Hungry 1."

Rising Vocalist

Ranking high in the estimation of many a college student is the successful vocalist, Johnny Mathis. His rapid rise to stardom is indicative of a promising and enduring spot in the field of top entertainment. Like the Kingston Trio, he has also appeared at the Blue Angel, the Copacabana, and many other top-flight entertainment spots.

He has developed his own particular style of singing. In this style he equally combines the importance of the lyrics and melody. Although his ballads predominate, he is capable of changing the beat to slower or more progressive rhythm. Many of his older recorded ballads still are regularly played, such as, "A Certain Smile," "Wonderful! Wonderful!" and "The Twelfth of Never."

These ballads contrast with his exciting interpretation of an old standard like "That Old Black Magic" or a bouncing snow tune like "Get Me To The Church On Time" from "The Music Man." Johnny's "Swing Softly" is a fairly new album of tunes done in a smoothly synopacted style.

Students Prescribe Remedies In Conduction of Campaigns

What ways can you suggest to help the student body know the ideas and goals of candidates in major campus elections?

How can the student body become familiar with the ideals and goals of a candidate in one of our major elections? This question requires serious consideration, because in recent years there very obviously has been a lack of interest in the important issue. If we expect an excellent term of office from our campus leaders, then we should take a little initiative and actively participate in the campaign.

Too much importance has been placed upon the one night speeches of the candidates. The students are even unaware of those girls running for the election until the latter are presented on the stage of G.W. There must be a campus-wide campaign, perhaps for the duration of two weeks. During this time, the candidates could have an opportunity to visit the various dormitories. In this informal atmosphere, the girls are able to ask questions of the candidate, and become better acquainted with her platform.

Publicity plays the most important role in campaigns, and this just happens to be one of our deficits in elections. Committees should be appointed by each candidate, and she herself should supervise the constructing posters and placing them in Ann Carter Lee, along with a mimeographed sheet of her platform.

If both the candidates and the students co-operate in such a campaign, then the two parties will be exerting their best efforts. There will be an ardent interest in elections, and no longer will voting be considered merely as a duty or obligation.

SUE SCHAFER—'61

With the approach of the Student Government Association elections one big problem becomes apparent—the lack of an opportunity to meet and know the candidates.

In past years this has been remedied by panel discussions with the candidates participating in it, by short speeches in the auditorium, and by buzz sessions in each dormitory with candidates present. Still the problem seems to persist. Is it a lack of interest on the part of the student body in elections? Does the student body realize the importance of the officers and the need to elect highly qualified candidates?

If more campaigning could take place, but in an orderly fashion, the students may have a better opportunity to judge and to select the candidate best qualified. And if the students would make a special effort to know the candidates and take advantage of all opportunities offered to meet them, the problem could be remedied.

FAT GARVIN—'61

The first point in any election is the nominating of candidates for office. On a college level, this tends to become an aimless farce.

One nominates her best or close friend, whether she is properly qualified for the position or not. A suggestion in regard to solving this problem would be for the nominator to state, when nominating, the qualifications which she believes the nominee to have.

After the candidates have been chosen the real campaigning should begin. Each candidate should select a campaign manager to distribute posters and perhaps candidate name buttons. These means would add enthusiasm and interest to the campaign.

Each candidate should also be given equal time to voice her

Mid-Winter Dances Brighten Schedules

This week-end the Mid-Winter dances are being held at V.M.I. in Lexington. There will be a dance Friday night, and another one is scheduled for Saturday night.

Next week-end is Mid-Winters at U.Va. The Glenn Miller Orchestra, under the direction of Ray McKenley, is to play for the dance. Chris Connor and the Buddy Rich Quintet are scheduled to appear at the afternoon concert.

Winter Germans are this week-end at the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill. Les Brown and Buddy Morrow will play for the Germans and Cotillion Dances on February 13 at V.P.I.

The Dartmouth Carnival, held last week-end at Hanover, New Hampshire, set the record for being the coldest carnival in its history; despite the cold, though, from all reports, it was the best one yet.

Hollins College will celebrate Founder's Day next week-end. At this time the Jesse Ball duPont Chapel will be dedicated in a service at which the Reverend John Baillie, Dean of Divinity at the University of Edinburgh, will deliver the sermon. The Hollins College Choir will sing at this service.

An anthem, "The Gate of Heaven," will be heard for the first time. It was written especially for the program by Randal Thompson. There will be an organ recital by Mr. Fenner Douglass from Oberlin College and a play by Kermit Hunter will be presented.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

In the January 23 issue of the Bullet several students gave their opinions of the conditions in the dining hall in general and in particular.

Certainly I would admit that the food in the dining hall is not exactly the same quality or quantity that I am accustomed to eating at home. But I think that on the whole the food at Seacobeck is pretty darn good considering the number of people Mr. Robison has to feed and the budget he has to keep. After four years at MWC I am tired of institutional food, whether it be excellent, fair or plain rotten.

The dining hall staff goes out of its way to try to cater to the whims of 1500 girls. If anybody ever stopped to think what a trial it is for any mother to try and feed four children who all have different likes and dislikes, they might have an idea of the problems of Mr. Robison on a very minute scale.

In my opinion lunches are better than dinners solely because there is more of a variety and if you don't like cheese sandwiches, you can always have soup. No institutional food is going to compare to home cooking unless you can afford to dine at the Waldorf every night.

Hearing other girls compare the food at MWC to other colleges makes me sick. They haven't eaten at William and Mary, University of Michigan or a few more places I could mention where food isn't even recognizable, let alone edible. Most students would be pretty content to eat at Seacobeck if they had to live on the food served in most universities for just a week. I would suggest that students who think the food at MWC is so bad try cooking for themselves for awhile and see if they think their own cooking is so much better.

Integration Begins In Virginia

For the first time in the history of Virginia, Negroes have entered white public schools. Integration came to Virginia after the state Supreme Court of Appeals and a three judge Federal court struck down the state's "massive resistance" laws and Gov. Almond was barred from using "evasive schemes" to preserve school segregation.

Almond accepted the decision and told the Virginia Legislature that he would not use state police or troops to block Federal court orders to proceed with desegregation. Almond turned down segregationists who begged him to take any step necessary to thwart the Federal court orders. All Virginia can do now, Almond said, is keep integration to a minimum.

With Arlington and Norfolk gone, other Virginia cities have begun tottering. Charlottesville has been given a court reprieve, until September, to work out its plans.

The fall of Fortress Virginia, the South's great bastion in the struggle to hold off school integration, marked a major defeat for the south in the nation's massive civil rights battle. The six Southern states that still have no school integration — Alabama, Florida, Georgia, Louisiana, Mississippi, and South Carolina — have looked to Virginia not only as the South's intellectual leader, but also as its legal strategist. Virginia, in setting up the complex structure of "massive-resistance" laws in 1955 and 1956, deliberately set out to show the states how they could legally maintain the old, segregated system. Other states such as Georgia, Alabama, and Louisiana, actually patterned some of their own anti-integration laws on the Virginia plan.

There is much speculation as to what the next step on the part of Virginians will be. Although the courts have outlawed previous plans for segregation, there seems to be a strong reluctance to accept integration in the schools. The Legislature is presently recommending a bill to repeal the present compulsory school law.

Only a few years ago Virginians had been saying they would never surrender, even to token integration. However, the time has come when they are no longer able to evade the integration court order. They must either comply with the order or take more decided steps to keep Virginia schools segregated. The nation, and mainly the south, is anxious to see which the state will do.

Simpson Announces Prof's Retirement; Natalie Nason Joins MWC Faculty

Chancellor Grellet C. Simpson has announced the retirement of Mrs. Frances Ramey Mooney, associate professor of social science at Mary Washington College and a member of the faculty since 1929. A graduate of State Teachers College, Edmond, Oklahoma and the University of Oklahoma, Mrs. Mooney has a master's degree from George Peabody College. She is a member of the National Council of Geography Teachers and a past president of the geography section of the Virginia Education Association. Her classes for the semester beginning February 2 will be taken by Miss Natalie Nason, a graduate of the University of Maine and Clark University where she obtained her M.A.

Miss Nason, who was in the Waves during World War II, was a teaching principal in an American school in Sumatra May, 1956, to last July. She has recently returned from Indonesia, having spent the past four months in South Asia, the Middle West, the Soviet Union and Europe. Previously she had been with the United States Air Force in charge of its education program in Tokyo and Itazuke, Japan, and on the faculty of Aroostook State Teachers College in Presque Isle, Maine.

Also appointed for the second semester are Mrs. Cornelia Oliver of Ashland, B.A., Smith College and M.A., Duke University, as part time instructor of art, and Miss Janet Thomason of Morgantown, West Va., B.S. and M.S., West Virginia University, as instructor in health, physical education and recreation. Mrs. Oliver was an art instructor here in 1954-55. While doing graduate work, Miss Thomas was a student supervisor of the women's intramural program.

Students To Represent College At College Board

Vici Lou Rogers, a senior, and Margaretta Kirksey, a junior, will represent Mary Washington this year on Mademoiselle's national College Board.

They were among 784 students who competed with applicants from colleges all over the country to win places on the Board, according to Mademoiselle.

As College Board members, Vici and Marge will represent MWC and will report to Mademoiselle on college life and the college scene. Each girl will complete two assignments in writing, editing, fashion, advertising or art, in competition for the twenty Guest Editorships to be awarded by the magazine at the end of May.

zine at the end of May.

The Guest Editors will be brought to New York for four weeks next June to help write, edit and illustrate Mademoiselle's 1959 August College issue. Their transportation will be paid to and from New York and they will receive a regular salary for their work.

In addition to their work on the magazine, Guest Editors will interview outstanding men and women in their chosen fields to help clarify their career aims.

Judy Zuczek, a junior, was also appointed by Mademoiselle as campus representative under the magazine's Campus Merchandising Plan.

Varied Perfumes Show Personality

We all need that little added something to our general appearance, and what can add more than a subtle fragrance to trail us as we go? Today's market offers a wide choice of perfumes, colognes and other smells in various types to suit our personality, our mood, and the occasion. It makes you feel good and it makes the people around you feel good too.

Applying your fragrance is important. You don't want to suffocate your friends but also you don't want to use it too sparingly and not get the full effect. Perfume should be applied at the pulse spots—your wrists, throat, at the crook of your elbow, your temples. Colognes and toilet waters are for splashing on. Use it after a bath or shower if you want a refreshing lift and a lasting smell. The spray atomizers are the latest and the greatest.

You will find every perfume will fall into about seven basic types. In the floral bouquet group you discover Lanvin's Arpege, Arden's Blue Grass, and Rubinstein's Moonlight Mist. Classified as the woody smell are Lenthier's Desert Flower, Dior's Miss Dior, Woodhug by Faberge and Bourjois' Evening in Paris. The modern blends include Coty's L'Aimant, Rubinstein's Command Performance, Avon's Here's My Heart, and Chanel Number Five. Directoire by Charles of Ritz, Coty's Emerald, and Guerlain's Shalimar are Oriental types.

We find a spicy fragrance in Citro's Reflexions, Dana's 20 Carats, Indiscreet by Lelong, Matchabelli's Stradivari, Old Spice by Shulton, Lanvin's My Sin, Dana's Tabu, and Dorsay's Intoxication. April Violets by Yardley and Coty's Muguet des Bois are single floral perfumes. The fruity smells are Femme by Marcel

Point of View . . . By AILEEN WOODS
... And What Do You Know About It?

Did you ever ask someone if she knew what Student Government was? The answer would most likely be something like: "Of course, everybody knows about SGA."

Not quite satisfied with this answer you might ask what "everybody" knows, and this time you might not get an answer at all.

Aside from the knowledge of yearly elections and monthly meetings in G. W. auditorium, you would probably find that "everybody" knows very little about it.

Aileen Woods

The fact that SGA is so much a part of the campus community makes it a little surprising that so few people know exactly what the responsibilities and services of the association are.

Before the semester starts in September, Student Government sponsors a pre-school conference where student leaders and representatives from the administration meet to find new ideas and better ways to carry out their offices during the year.

In this same "preparation" line, SGA is responsible for organizing the freshman class, setting up the orientation program and training freshman counsellors and handbook instructors.

Rochas, April Showers by Chery and Coty's L'Origan.

The florals, woody, fruity and a few spice types are best for daytime wear while the modern blends and Oriental scents lead to a glamorous evening. Try more than one and you find that you're not the girl you thought you were.

At Christmas, Student Government sponsors the dorm decorations contest and a big Christmas party in Seacobeck. It also sends cards to members of the administration in the name of the student body.

SGA is now sponsoring a Benefit Workshop to give class vice presidents ideas and information and to help them plan better shows.

The Student Government works to revise the constitution, to select a princess to represent Mary Washington at the Apple Blossom Festival, and to send corsages to the Head Residents on Mother's Day. It works with the administration on faculty and alumnae committees to help plan the program for the May Festival and for Alumnae Week-end.

SGA has made it easier for "everybody" to know what it does this year by opening an office in Ann Carter Lee, by posting the minutes of every meeting on the bulletin board outside the C Shoppe and by holding open council meetings from time to time.

With some attention to these aids and a closer look at the various campus activities, "everybody" shouldn't find it hard to know almost all about SGA.

MW Art Collection Gets Prize Painting

"Shopping Center", an oil painting by Sol Wilson was recently added to the permanent art collection in the Fine Arts Center.

Presented to Mary Washington College by the National Academy of Design, the painting won the Adolph and Clara Oborg prize last year.

The award was given in 1959 at the 133rd Annual Exhibition of the National Academy of Design.

Candidates Speak on Feb. 18

"Get to know your candidates!" This may be said to be the major aim of the campus-wide election preparations this year. An added effort is being made to acquaint the student body with the nominees for the offices of various campus activities.

Such an effort is exhibited by the planned "social hour" in the C-Shoppe next Wednesday, February 18 from three to five o'clock. Candidates for the office of Honor Council president, and for the YWCA and student government offices will be available at this time to answer any questions the students may have.

This opportunity to meet the candidates for major offices on campus is essential in the type of voting system used at Mary Washington. Only if a student is acquainted with all the candidates can she conscientiously choose the one she feels is best for a particular office and succeed that choice with a second and third.

SGA Asks Students To Evaluate Year, Holds Discussions

An Evaluation Program, which was a follow-up of the Fifth Pre-School Conference, was held February 3 in the Faculty Lounge of Ann Carter Lee.

The purpose of this meeting was to review and evaluate the work of the Student Government Association since the installation of its executive officers last spring. Through discussion and careful consideration of the year's activities, it was hoped to find suggestions for the strengthening and broadening of Student Government in the total College community.

Such topics as the following were discussed: What is Student Government's responsibility toward the encouragement of intellectual excellence? How can a closer relation between the Student Council and the student body be achieved? What is the role of Student Government in the development of campus student leadership? What is the role of a House Council in a dormitory? What is the general student attitude toward the Handbook, its purposes, its regulations, and the manner in which Student Council handles infractions of these regulations?

Graham Walker, Liz Hill, Dale Buhrman and Rose Bennett were leaders of the discussion groups that met during the afternoon and evening sessions. Representatives from YWCA, the Bullet, RA, and other campus-wide organizations also participated in the discussions.

ideas and goals at a student body meeting. An affective follow-up to this and a means of reaching the voters would be some brief record of the candidate's qualifications and background, ideas and goals printed in the school newspaper.

The main purpose should be to eliminate any unenthusiastic, blind voting, by allowing the voter to be familiar with the candidate and their platforms prior to the actual election.

Dancer-Choreographer Talks, Demonstrates Modern Dance

By BECKY BLEVINS

Gertrude Lippincott, noted modern dancer and choreographer, will present a lecture and demonstration at MWC on Thursday, February 26, at 11:30 a.m.

Her subject will include the philosophical bases of the dance and she will illustrate her lecture with the premiere performance of a new work entitled "Figures on an Altar Panel." The dance is set in a medieval style of movement and represents the reactions of three women to the medieval concept of death.

The music for the dance has been especially composed by the famous modern dance musician, Louis Horst. Other dance selections will also be presented. Miss Lippincott's pianist will be Clara Hofberg of Washington, D. C.

Miss Lippincott will also give a Master Class for the college students at 3:30 p.m. on the day of her visit to the campus.

Her dance career began when she was ten. She later began serious work at the University of Chicago and at the Bennington School of Dance in London. In 1937 she founded the Modern Dance Center of Minneapolis. Since then she has been performing, choreographing, and teaching modern dance over the entire country.

Miss Lippincott has taught at many colleges and universities throughout the United States, including Louisiana State University, Colorado State College, Brigham Young, Indiana University, University of Wichita, Hood, Drake, and Cornell.

At present Editor-in-Chief of the National Section on Dance, Miss Lippincott wrote and edited Dance Production. She has recently edited a Reprint Packet of Dance Articles. She has contributed articles to Impulse, Journal of Aesthetics, Dance Magazine, and Dance Observer, of which she is an Editor. Her most recent work is a piece on Arch Lautner, famed designer for modern dance, for Impulse, 1959.

MW Students Attend Model United Nation

Mary Washington College was represented at the Model United Nations in Montreal, Canada on February 4-7 by Mary Ann Frazier, Terry Horsman, Margaretta Kirksey, Linda Lange, and Sue Olinger. The Model United Nations held its sessions at the University of Montreal, and over 60 colleges and universities in Canada and the United States sent delegates.

The elimination of military bases in Asia and the Arab-Israeli disputes were the issues that came before the General Assembly. The Security Council discussed the Berlin crisis. A dispute over the Columbia River involving Canada and the United States was brought before the International Court of Justice. Two law students from Canada and the United States argued the cases of their respective countries. The Court was composed of student delegates from around the world.

In addition to the sessions of the UN, panel discussions were held at McGill University. The topics were pertinent to the questions arising before the United Nations. Speakers to the General Assembly included prominent figures in the Canadian government, Sidney Smith, Secretary of State for External Affairs; Lester Pearson, winner of the 1957 Nobel Peace prize and Paul Martin, chairman of the Canadian delegation to the United Nations.

The Model UN demonstrated to the students attending the principal functions of the United Nations and how they operate. The emphasis on realism made the project an overwhelming success. The discussion of the Columbia River dispute brought additional points to the attention of the legal representatives in the actual negotiations. The University of California and Michigan State delegations representing members of the Soviet bloc held the spotlight through their convincing representation of Russian policy. Through every means at their disposal they cleverly blocked western attempts at solution of the problems brought before the Security Council and General Assembly.

The Model UN passed a resolution that the Model Assembly submit a recommendation to the Secretary-General of the UN that a permanent organization be formed to promote an international student exchange program.

The project is proof of the interest of the youth of the world in the vital issues that confront us today. It is us, the youth of today, who will take up the burden of tomorrow, to attempt to maintain peace in the world.

Lecturer To Visit MWC Campus Soon

Two forthcoming lecturers on the MWC campus will be Dr. Warren Carriere on February 19 and Miss Marvina Howe on February 24.

Dr. Carriere's subject will be "Intellectual Life in Eighteenth-Century France." The lecture will be in the duPont Little Theater at 4:00 p.m. on February 19. Dr. Carriere is a member of the French Department at the University of Virginia.

Miss Howe, North African correspondent for the New York Times, will lecture on "Which Way North Africa?" at 10:30 a.m. in Monroe auditorium on February 24. Miss Howe is the author of a book, The Prince and I. She has also written numerous articles for the Christian Science Monitor, The Nation, Scholastic, Middle East Journal, New Leader, and New Republic.

Survey Indicates Russian Interests

According to the Appleton-Century-Crofts 1958 survey of language enrollments, the study of the Russian language is gaining rapidly in popularity.

In the fall of 1957, 140 colleges and universities reported that they were giving one or more courses in the Russian language. In the fall of 1958, 229 colleges and universities reported they were giving one or more courses in the language, an increase of 62.1 per cent over the previous year.

A number of colleges reported that they would include Russian in their curriculum if they could obtain competent teachers. The demand for teachers of Russian in both the colleges and the high schools far exceeds the supply.

Mary Washington College offers Russian courses taught by Dr. Brenner.

Club Stages Show

Hoof Prints, the riding club at Mary Washington College, will stage its annual Gymkhana (games on horseback) at Oak Hill Stables, two miles west of town on Route 3, Sunday, March 1, at 12:30 p.m. Events include novelty classes such as a balloon-popping contest, musical chairs, egg-and-spoon and potato races, costume relay and water contests. Formal classes include equitation, knock-down-and-out and handy hunter classes.

Kitten James, president of Hoof Prints, announced the date of the show, and concrete plans are now underway. A definite program will be announced to the student body at a later date.

College Receives Picture In Schnellock's Memory

"Yet to Journey," an oil painting by Tetsuo Ochuboku, and one of the fifty in the Third Annual Exhibition of Contemporary Painting held last fall at Mary Washington College, has been purchased and presented to the college as a memorial to Mr. Emil R. Schnellock by friends on the faculty and staff.

The work by this Hawaii-born artist who won a Guggenheim Fellowship last year was especially admired by Mr. Schnellock, who was for twenty years a member of the art faculty until his death in November. It will be added to the permanent collection in the galleries at the Fine Arts Center.

Basketball Tops RA Activities

By PATTY MORGAN

It is hard to believe that exams are over and that two weeks of the second semester have passed. Along with other campus-wide activities, the sports phase has also been setting a rapid pace.

Miss Woosley, sponsor of R.A. and Bayla Goldberg, basketball chairman, are busy making plans for the intramural tournament beginning February 10. If time allows, two tournaments will be held; the first to be the Round Robin followed by an Eliminations. On March 11 the basketball season will be brought to a close with the Devil-Goat game held from 8:00-9:00. Girls will be selected to play on the Devil-Goat teams from the ones playing on the intramural dorm teams. All girls are urged to support their dorm teams.

Cathy Russell, chairman of Recreational Sports, reports that as soon as the basketball season is terminated, ping-pong, badminton, and shuffleboard activities will be started. New pool equipment has been ordered and as soon as it arrives, Char King will give informal pool instructions. The instructions will be given twice a week for an hour after supper.

With the beginning of the new semester the Hoof Prints Club is in full swing with a variety of activities. Initiation of new members will soon be taking place. Requirements for membership will be one semester of riding and a show of enthusiasm and interest in riding.

Kitten James, President of Hoof Prints, announced that on March 1, the club will have its annual Gymkana which is games-on-horseback. This is always an eagerly anticipated activity of the girls with many laughs provided for the spectators. Around the end of March Hoof Prints is planning a riding clinic on the art of riding featuring Mr. Bailey, a noted Virginia horseman. On the first of May the girls will present the annual Mary Washington Spring Horse show. These many planned events should provide entertainment for all horse lovers.

On Saturday, Feb. 14, the Outing Club is planning to take a trip to UVa. for a Valentine square dance. There will be a hike Sunday, February 15, with UVa. Outing Club to Mt. Massanutten in Harisburg. There will be other events planned with UVa., thus if any girl is interested she is welcome to attend the club meeting February 23 at 6:00 p.m. in Monroe, room 3.

The meetings will be held every other Monday at the same time and place. The trips sponsored by the Outing Club provide a wonderful opportunity for girls who enjoy traveling and meeting different people.

Class To Present Drama in Spanish

Thursday, Feb. 26, "Esgrima y Amor," a one-act play by Joaquín and Serafín Álvarez Quintero, will be presented by the class in Advanced Spanish Composition and Conversation, in duPont Little Theatre. The performance is part of a series of special programs to be presented by the Modern Foreign Languages Department in celebration of Language Week.

The cast is as follows: Obdulia, the fencing teacher's daughter, Barbara Brooks, Federico, Obdulia's sweetheart, Nancy Dunlap; Don Amadeo, the fencing teacher, Marty Spilman; Prudencia, the maid, Gretchen Squires; and Salvador, a simpleton, Candes Parker. Miss Carmen Rivera is director.

The play is a comedy which deals with fencing, finances, mistaken identity and love. Don Amadeo, who thinks Federico is Salvador, attempts to give him a fencing lesson, but learns that Federico is secretly in love with Obdulia. All ends well. Obdulia's proposed marriage to Federico will help solve her father's financial difficulties; secret one; and Salvador's dual is successful.

Professors Figure In Current Events

Dr. George M. Van Sant, assistant professor of philosophy at Mary Washington College, is author of an article, "A Proposed Property of Relations," which appears in the current issue of The Journal of Philosophy.

A graduate of St. John's College, he holds M.A. and Ph.D. degrees from the University of Virginia where he was an English instructor in the Engineering School before joining the faculty here last September.

The 40th edition of HANDBOOK OF CHEMISTRY AND PHYSICS contains a table, "Superconducting Transition Temperatures, Magnetic Threshold Fields at Absolute Zero," by Preston Burns, assistant professor of physics at Mary Washington College.

The lead article in the current issue of JOURNAL OF EXPERIMENTAL PSYCHOLOGY, "The Influence of Irrelevant Information upon Complex Visual Discrimination," is by Dr. Milton H. Hodge, Jr., assistant professor of psychology.

Reynold H. Brooks, director of public relations, will attend the Feb. 18-20 meetings of the Mason-Dixon District of the American College Public Relations Association at White Sulphur Springs, West Va.

Robert D. Allsbrook, assistant professor of math at MWC, has been elected to membership in the Society of the Sigma Xi, a national science fraternity having a chapter at the University of South Carolina. A graduate of this institution, he was awarded his M.A. there last year. He is a member of Phi Beta Kappa and in 1952-53 received a Fulbright scholarship at Technical University, Graz, Austria.

Five Candidates Compete For Major MWC Campus Offices

Bloodhounds Create Mild Panic on Campus

Say the campus police force has really gone to the dogs? If you've seen any of our blue-suited buddies being walked around the Hill lately by a pair of long-faced hounds you'll know what we mean.

But calm down, coeds. Here's the scoop on the bloodhounds.

Simply a new asset to the city police force, the canines are happily founding a new major field on the MWC campus—Sniffology. Under the professorship of Chief Haynes and Officer Rose, two of the few men in the area who are acquainted with the art of training bloodhounds, the dogs are presently enrolled in Advanced Trail Tracking and are borrowing our campus for their afternoon labs.

A pair of nose-y canines is bound to cause comment among their two-legged counterparts, and the C-Shoppe crew has been busy creating. At the request of the SPCA we'd like to clear up a few fabrications:

No, the bloodhounds are not being trained to track down guest cardless callers.

Nor or they being employed by the faculty to put the bite on chronic over-cutters.

Quantico, have no qualms—the hounds aren't after those marines who wear their wedding bands in the back pockets.

And they're not Stu Goo's secret weapon for campus-cutters.

They're just two, dog-gone busy pursuing excellence with their noses to the ground (not the grindstone). And by the time they really know their business, these long-eared ladies may volunteer to help find the queen of the missing persons, Hebe.

USNSA Assistant To Visit Campus

Miss Michaelo "Mike" Golden, Assistant to the Director of the United States National Student Association, Education Travel Department will be on campus February 23, 1959 to discuss student travel abroad.

She will show a motion picture on travel at 3:00 p.m. in George Washington Auditorium immediately following the Student Government meeting.

After the movie Miss Golden will discuss every phase of a student's travel abroad and distribute NSA travel folders describing the foreign programs planned for 1959.

Silver Co. Sponsors 'Opinion Contest' On MWC Campus

During the months of February and March, Reed & Barton, America's oldest major silversmiths, are conducting a "Silver Opinion Competition" in which valuable scholarship awards totaling $1050 are being offered to duly enrolled women students at a few selected colleges and universities.

MWC has been selected to enter this Competition in which the First Grand Award is a $500 cash scholarship; Second Grand Award is a $250 scholarship, and Third, Fourth and Fifth awards are $100 scholarships. In addition there will be 100 other awards with winners having the option of receiving a $25 Savings Bond or a "starter set" of sterling silver, fine china and crystal with a retail value of approximately $45.

Miss Barbara Bach, is the Student Representative who is conducting the "Silver Opinion Competition" for Reed & Barton at MWC. Those interested in entering the Silver Opinion Competition should contact Miss Bach in Ball 201 for entry blanks and for complete details concerning the Competition rules. She also has samples of 9 of the most popular Reed & Barton designs so that entrants can see how these sterling patterns actually look.

In the "Silver Opinion Competition" an entrant is asked to name her favorite china pattern, her favorite crystal and the sterling silver design she likes best. Then in her own words she must tell why she has chosen the three particular designs. She can use as few or as many words as she likes. There is no set limit. Entries will be judged on the basis of interesting opinions rather than on literary techniques. Closing date is midnight, March 31.

Through the opinions on silver design expressed by college women competing for these scholarships, Reed & Barton hopes to compile a valuable library of expressions of young American tastes.

is the class reporter of the junior class. She is also on the Junior Ring Dance favors committee.

An art major, Nancy Houston Moncure, 21, is the junior class representative to SGA. In 1958 Nancy was vice-president of Mason dormitory; she is an active member of the Battlefield art staff, co-art editor of the Epaulet, vice-president of the Art Club, a member of Alpha Phi Sigma, delegate to the 10th Annual National Student Association Congress from MWC in 1958, and has been on the dean's list for five semesters. Nancy was also chairman of the Handbook Research committee of SGA, chairman of the Handbook training for new students, and chairman of the Christmas Door Decoration Contest of SGA.

All grades of these candidates were checked on February 12 and Joint Council, consisting of the SGA executive officers, Honor Council members, and Dr. Eileen K. Dodd, Mr. Fred Miller, and Dr. Earl J. Insley met to approve the candidates.

Publicity week for elections begins on February 13 and will continue through February 23. Candidates will visit dorms on the invitation of the various house councils, and the candidates will also meet students in the C-Shoppe. On the 23rd of February the candidates for both offices will speak to the student body at a meeting in George Washington Hall.

Polls will be open on election day, February 24, from nine to five p.m. in Ann Carter Lee. Results of the elections will be announced by the incumbent presidents of SGA and an official of Honor Council on the 24th of February.

Student Gains Award

Miss Mary Judy Swecker of Blue Grass, a sophomore majoring in home economics at Mary Washington College, has been awarded a scholarship as national 4-H club winner for frozen foods.

Home Ec. Delegates Plan for Convention

At the January meeting of the Home Economics Club, Kathleen Graves showed slides of her trip to the National 4-H Club Congress in Chicago.

Kathleen made the trip the last of November with 30 other 4-H club members from Virginia. Four of these Virginian delegates were named National winners.

Miss Elizabeth Ayers of Self-Rising Flour gave a demonstration at the February meeting. She explained the nutritive value of the self-rising flour and gave the girls samples.

It was announced by Betty Ann Smith that cookies and sandwiches were to be made for the band. The club will also serve for the Emerald Ball.

The Annual Convention of the Virginia Home Economics Association will be held at the Hotel Roanoke, Roanoke, Va., March 12-14. The theme of the convention is "Art and Science in Home Economics."

This year the American Home Economics Association is celebrating its 50th Anniversary. The Virginia Association is beginning its 49th year. Annual conventions have been held since 1909.

Delegates to the convention from the MWC Home Economics club are now working on a skit to be presented at the Friday night program.

There will be a meeting of the Bullet Editorial Staff Wednesday, Feb. 18, 7 p.m.

Who Can Think Of Best Excuses?

This is post time—to be followed, in all likelihood, by a period of student complaints and excuses. These examples collected from past years come under the head of "Why My Grade Should Be Raised."

There must be a mistake somewhere.

At no time before the exam did I receive an official warning, therefore, relying upon the college, I merely maintained my grade. Surely, this should have been a satisfactory grade.

I know many members of the class who do not work as hard as I do and who got a better grade. I am recognized among my classmates as a good student—you just ask any one of them.

I was not well at the time of the examination.

This mark ruined my prospect of getting a scholarship.

This is the only course in which I received a poor grade.

The examination was unfair and unfairly distributed over the subject.

My mind always goes blank during an examination.

Conditions in the room were not conducive to concentration.

They said nobody

Chairman Reviews Goal Of Present Campaign

Dear Alumnae:

We are in the second year of our Fiftieth Anniversary Endowment Fund Campaign and encouraged by the response from the many Alumnae, but we need to hear from more of you.

To restate the four objectives of the campaign:

1. An Alumnae House on campus. It was proposed the first $5,000 contributed to the drive be reserved for this house. Plans are in the making—and this house can be an actuality soon.
 2. To increase substantially the endowment fund. This fund is being increased but of greatest importance is the building of a true Alumnae file, so that every graduate of Mary Washington College is recognized on the Alumnae records. The contributions have come from many sources—the known sources—but we just need to reach more alumnae.
 3. To promote the recognition of scholarship. Education is an investment in human welfare; it represents an investment not only in our young women but in the future as well. Helping our young people prepare for the future is a privilege as well as a responsibility. It is especially gratifying to help those possessing great potentiality.
 4. To contribute to the permanent Art Collection of the College. This can be a very tangible investment in a "bank account of living values."
- I hope that all who can, will become members of "The Century Club" which comprises those who give one hundred dollars or more. I feel a great sense of urgency as I extend this reminder—invitation to those of you who have not had a part in the Fund so far. We want to hear from every alumna of Mary Washington College. The contribution of money is important but more important is hearing from you. Where are you? What are you doing?

Homecoming is very near. Let us hear from you but better yet come and be a part of the fun, the plans, the hopes and aspirations of your fellow alumnae.

See you! At Homecoming April 3-4.

MW Alum Attends College Reunion; Is Guest Speaker

Mrs. Karen Olsen de Figueres will speak to the Alumnae Association at the 1959 Mary Washington Alumnae Homecoming banquet.

Mrs. Figueres is the wife of the former president of Costa Rica, Jose Figueres. She and her husband were visiting dignitaries to the MWC campus for a luncheon in the fall of 1957. At this time Mrs. Figueres was a delegate to the United Nations; she was a member of the committee assigned the study of social, humanitarian, and cultural customs and traditions.

The speaker graduated from Mary Washington College in 1951 as Karen Olsen. While here, she majored in sociology and was a charter member of the campus social science honorary fraternity for women. She was also a member of Zeta Phi Eta, the national professional speech arts fraternity for women.

Mrs. Figueres is now living with her husband in San Jose, Costa Rica.

President Sends Open Message; Invites Alums to Homecoming

By MARGARET LODGE COPES
President, MWC Alumnae Assn.

Now is the time for all good . . . Stop! NO! I don't mean "for all good men to come to the aid of their countrymen." This sentence goes like this . . . Now is the time for all good alumnae of Mary Washington College to make plans to attend homecoming on the Hill on April 3rd and 4th.

Every year about this time each of us gets that peculiar urge to go back for homecoming once more. We dream again. We look back where our light flashed a few (or many!) years ago on a hill in Fredericksburg. We wonder about the old gang and get an inner urge to see it all again. In a real sense, we really do "go back." What a wonderful thing—memory! Through it wonderful parts of life are lived all over again. It repeats again and again the thousand and one little joys and kindnesses of life. One of the most cherished heritages of each individual alumna of Mary Washington College is the once-in-a-year opportunity to "go back," to meet old friends and visit with them in old familiar places. There is a special treat in store for us too . . . the very good possibility of all the Alumnae being housed together in the new dormitory which is almost completed.

Let's pledge ourselves this year to follow through that urge that comes to each of us every year about this time—to go to Mary Washington. Let's write notes to that old gang of ours and say—"Let's get together at homecoming!" Homecoming week-end reveals opportunities for service to our Alma Mater. Joys that are no more come alive again to warm the heart, opening new visions in the strengthened bond of friendships old and new. It costs so little but creates so much and the memory of it sometimes lives forever.

Yes, NOW IS THE TIME TO MAKE READY, GET SET AND GO TO HOMECOMING—April 3rd and 4th. You'll find a real welcome! Remember, this is your year. Classes of '19, '24, '29, '34, '39, '49, '54, '59, '64 and '69. Now! Now is the time! Let's go! How truly wonderful it would be to see you again!

Alumna Promotes Endowment Fund

"Now the New Year reviving old desires", let us turn with energy to our self appointed task—the Endowment Fund campaign. Great strides we have made, yes, but there is more to do.

"How near to realization is our dream of an Alumnae House on campus?" must be followed by these questions:

"Have you helped make that dream come true?"

"Have you contributed?"

"Have you spread the word around to all other alumnae you see or write to?"

Our concerted efforts can produce what we will. Faith and enthusiasm are high. Let us continue 1959 as splendidly as 1958. Nay, let us surpass ourselves. Let each one of us add just a little more time, energy, enthusiasm, capital—and then success is assured.

Here's to our Alumnae House, our endowment fund, our scholarships, and our art treasures! HERE'S TO YOU!

Homecoming—'59

Homecoming is the time of the year when alumnae look forward to returning to the Campus, and more so this year because the present plans are that all alumnae will stay together in the new dormitory. Mark your calendar now and make your plans to join in the gala events for the week-end of April 4 and 5!

A very interesting program has been planned for Homecoming. The business session on Saturday morning will be followed by a luncheon with Dr. Grellet C. Simpson, Chancellor, as our speaker. Dr. and Mrs. Simpson will be at home during the afternoon for any alumnae wishing to visit "Brompton." The banquet speaker will be Mrs. Karen Olsen de Figueres, wife of the former President of Costa Rica and distinguished member of the class of '51. This will be an interesting evening with the MWC Chorus performing, under the direction of Mr. George E. Luntz.

Reunion classes are '19, '24, '29, '34, '44, '49, '54, '56, '57, and '58.

Let us all put our shoulders to the wheel and help to attain our goal in making 1959 our peak year in the Endowment Fund Campaign. Mrs. Camilla Payne, Endowment Fund Chairman, will tell us more about the progress of the campaign at our business session.

Won't you make your plans to attend Homecoming 1959 and again have the pleasure of greeting old friends, making new friends, and meeting the students of Mary Washington?

The procedure of voting by mail will be in its second year of usage with the election of president, vice-president, and secretary in April. Balloting by mail is final. No ballots will be honored with the payment of dues at Homecoming. Those eligible to vote are paid members in the Association and the Official Ballot will be mailed to them. Those who wish to establish their eligibility by sending their 1958-59 dues in to the National office immediately will receive an Official Ballot in return. For your convenience a membership blank is included in this issue.

It is important that each alumna avail herself of this opportunity of electing the officers who will strive for the continued growth of our Association. This growth and success is dependent on you... the voting members. Express your interest by mailing your ballot as soon as you receive it. All ballots must be received by the Election Committee by 11:00 a.m., April 4. Below is a Sample Ballot including the names of the candidates submitted to you by the Nominating Committee of the Alumnae Association of which Mrs. Annie Patterson Gardner is chairman:

MW Alums Receive Letters of Greeting To Coming Reunion

Dear Alumnae:

Since I will have the opportunity to talk to you at the luncheon on Saturday during "Homecoming," my note of welcome to you will be brief. However, I do want all of you to know that we look forward to your return to the campus and to the way of life associated in our minds with young people—their thoughts and aspirations, their world and their space-age plans.

I have a suggestion that I would like for you to consider when you return to the campus. I do hope that you will find the time—take the time—to talk with the students of the College, to learn to see their smaller world as they see it, to know their concern for our larger world as they view it. I believe if you do this that you will leave your Alma Mater after your "Homecoming" experience with a better understanding of the realities of our present day and time, the beauty and the excellence of life anticipated by people much younger than we, but most of all, I think you will gain a renewed awareness that young people in college today are assuming more responsibility than perhaps we did in our day, that their world is not as confused as we seem to think it is—and that maybe it would be helpful if we older people would use this contact with our young people to dispel the confusion which exists in our own lives. With all good wishes,

Sincerely,
Grellet C. Simpson
Chancellor

To the Alumnae of Mary Washington College:

I welcome the opportunity to send greetings to you from those of us here at the College. In a very real sense, you are still a part of us, for, as former students and graduates, you personify the qualities for which the College stands. Our students, our faculty, and our alumnae are the best evidences of what we are achieving as an educational institution. We are "partners in progress."

I hope that many of you will be able to come back for Homecoming. You will see new faces and new developments, but the same cordial welcome will be awaiting you.

Sincerely,
Edward Alvey, Jr., Dean

To The Alumnae:

Along with the traditional and ever hardy welcome when graduates and other former students return for Homecoming a double examination is in order. This is perhaps a different kind of "examination" from that usually associated with college life, both an individual and an institutional re-examination. For in addition to renewing personal contacts alumnae come to see at first hand what their college is doing, and in turn the College may use this opportunity as one means of discovering how their education has profited her daughters, whether the process has been and is a continuing one, what inward satisfactions and outward manifestations are in evidence.

A wise teacher of fifth century Athens is quoted by a distinguished pupil as saying that "the unexamined life is not worth living." In such a belief throughout every aspect of college life and endeavor we are constantly scrutinizing our efforts, examining purpose and procedure and attainment to the end that student life will be more worth living here at Mary Washington and as a further means for all of us to live the whole of life abundantly and happily, both for ourselves and for others.

The Office of the Dean of Students looks forward to sharing the pleasure of renewing campus associations and of welcoming you back home. We hope that the familiar will give you a sense of oneness with your past, and that the changes will help you and us keep pace with the present and the future. Education in one concept of the liberal arts can help men and women to be at home in the seen and unseen world. May our mutual examination be appreciative, thoughtful, salutary, helpful, and enjoyable.

Margaret Hargrove
Dean of Students

To The MWC Alumnae:

It is always a pleasure to welcome the Alumnae to the Homecoming.

We would like to extend to you every courtesy, but above all we hope that you have an interest in returning, and, in addition, that you have an interest in encouraging other Alumnae to return to the college for the Homecoming occasion.

If we can extend any assistance which will make your stay more comfortable, we will consider it a pleasure to do so. We look forward to this weekend and we hope that you do.

Cordially yours,
Edgar E. Woodward,
Bursar

Dear Alumnae:

On behalf of the student body of our College, I extend to you a most cordial welcome as you return for the annual Alumnae Week-end.

We hope that you will look with pride at the advancements Mary Washington has made in recent years. Material achievements in the form of a new dormitory and the new science building are only outward signs of the even more important deepening intellectual life of the Hill. We hope in your brief return to the College you may find again some of the thrill of learning and the warmth of friendships.

Again, may I welcome you to the campus and wish for you a most successful Alumnae Week-end.

Sincerely yours,
Carol A. Pridden, President

MW Chapter Aids In Sponsoring Forum; Dr. Eileen Dodd To Represent College

The Eleventh Annual University Women's Forum, formerly known as the Barnard Forum, will be held Saturday, February 14, at the Waldorf-Astoria Hotel in New York City.

Dr. Eileen K. Dodd, professor of psychology, will represent Mary Washington at this meeting. Chancellor Grellet T. Simpson has formerly been the delegate of the college for the forum.

The topic for this year's forum will be "The Arts in a Science Directed World." Guest speakers will include Dr. Richard Glenn Gettell, President of Mount Holyoke College, Miss Cheryl Crawford, director and producer of many Broadway hits, Dr. James J. Rorimer, Director of the Metropolitan Museum of Art, and Dr. Wallace Kirkman Harrison, architect of Rockefeller Center, the United Nations Building, and the Lincoln Center. Dr. Millicent Carey McIntosh, President of Barnard College, will conduct the discussion, and Dr. Margaret M. Bryant, President of A.A.U.W., New York City Branch, will preside over the meeting.

The Forum is sponsored by the American Association of University Women, New York City branch, in co-operation with the metropolitan alumnae groups of 47 colleges and universities. Among these groups is the Westchester, New York Chapter of the Mary Washington Alumnae Association. Dorothy Potter is president of the chapter.

Graduate Adds To Fund; Contributes Memorial

Judy Townsend, a 1958 graduate of Mary Washington and former editor of the Bullet, recently sent a contribution to the Endowment Fund in memory of Dr. Emil Schnellcock, who died last fall. She suggested that this gift might be copied by other Alumnae who were acquainted with the late professor of art.

Mrs. Deborah Klein, Alumnae Secretary, pointed out that part of the Endowment Fund was allotted to increasing the art collection of the college. She stated that this made a contribution in memory of Dr. Schnellcock extremely fitting.

In speaking of the late professor, Miss Townsend wrote: "... he took us to lunch at Roma's. He told us about Thomas Wolfe and Henry Miller and the way Greenwich Village was in the twenties. He always embarrassed me a little, because he was so grateful for every-

Weddings & Births

Engagements, weddings, and births have been announced by several Mary Washington alumnae. From the class of 1951, Hannal Lou (Southwell) McGowan had a son on Oct. 31, 1958.

On Jan. 12, Shirley Matzenger married Max Cyrus Jones, Jr. A son was born to Patsy Morris McVey from the class of '55. Joan O'Shaughnessy and Bonnie Simon, both of the class of '57, announce their engagements. From the same class, Barbara Stanton married Don Heine, and Suzie Hoenstein announced her marriage to Charlie Morrow. Susan Bender Trotter and Gilmer Chamblin Stacey, from the class of '57, gave birth to girls.

Alice Ponte Oliver had a girl, Jeanne.

thing anyone said to him—and because he was one of the saddest older men I've ever seen."

Various Chapters Report

MIAMI CHAPTER

The Miami Chapter was entertained at a swim-bridge-lunch October 25 at the home of Betty Oakman Hodson (Homestead, Fla.) with Jo Walker Magee and Ruth Smith Hargrave co-hostesses. Betty and family are living at the spacious estate outside of Homestead while their home is being built nearby. A number of chapter members motored down from Miami for the function.

Helen Strickland Cox was hostess for the regular December 5 chapter meeting at her home in Coral Gables, Fla. The following officers were elected to serve for 1959: President, Mrs. John Hargrave (Ruth Smith); Vice President, Miss Frances Malone; Treasurer, Mrs. Robert Sayre (Joanne Horst); Secretary, Mrs. Alexander Bertok (Lina Jennings); Historian, Mrs. Bruce Wilson (D. G. Pate); Director, Mrs. J. C. Smith (Beverly Bentley); Endowment, Mrs. Tom Vivian (Helen Reynolds). Mrs. Paul Howard (Leona Hall) retired as president.

December 29 was "open house" at Tom and Helen Reynolds Vivian in Miami Shores. This is the annual occasion all chapter members and husbands anxiously await. Down from Arlington, Va. were Tom and Kay Corcoran and Ed and Barbara Jones. From Perrine and Homestead came John and Ruth Hargrave and Rogers and Jo Magee. Don and Jackie Berry drove up from their new home south of Miami (2½ acres).

From Miami were Pete and Leona Howard, Bob and Joanne Sayre, Fran Malone and date, and Alex and Lina Bertok. The Vivians had invited a dozen or more other guests. Little Peggy Vivian, age 3, was away at her grand-parents for the evening. As usual, the Vivians entertained graciously and exhibited their beautiful Christmas tree. It was fun getting together.

By the way, if you live in the Miami area now—any of you former Mary Washington girls—contact this chapter and get in on the many functions and activities. "College Night" at North Miami High invited our representatives recently—Leona Howard and Helen Vivian.

Ruth Smith Hargrave, Pres.

PENINSULA CHAPTER

The Peninsula Chapter entertained on December 28 at the Officers' Club, Langley Field with a tea in honor of students currently enrolled at Mary Washington and high school students planning to attend. The response was very gratifying. Mrs. Barbara McGrath Newsome, '31, was chairman of the committee on arrangements.

Miss Alice Dew, supervisor of the Hampton Elementary Schools, gave a very informative talk on "Mental Health and World Understanding" at the January luncheon meeting.

Annie P. Gardner, President

MARYLAND-SUBURBAN CHAPTER

The Maryland-Suburban Chapter has followed its policy of alternate luncheons and business meetings. Last September we had as our luncheon guests at the Kenwood Country Club, six area girls entering MWC as freshmen. A beautiful cake in the shape of a mortar-board was the centerpiece. Jane Patrick handled arrangements for this lovely affair.

In November we held a business meeting at Jane's house, and had a representative of the Stauffer Home Plan show us how to improve our physical well being.

Our Christmas luncheon was at Mrs. K's Toll House. Good food, friends and a lovely atmosphere made this a gala affair complete with an interesting gift exchange.

Alumnae Respond With News

CLASS OF 1934

Where are all the 34's and what are you doing? It has been months since I had any news of you and therefore this column is brief. In April we will have our Silver Reunion. This will be at Homecoming and this event is a special one on the Alumnae calendar.

To make this reunion an extra special one will take the help of each of you. Send me your suggestions and let me know if you think you can be among the 34's who will renew old friendships in April. Should there be obstacles that prevent you from being with us let a note from you make you a part of our get-together. Don't forget the Reunion and let me have your news.

In answer to that fine appeal for help in organizing our 15th reunion at Homecoming this spring, Nettie Evans Lawery, 301 Cedar Lane, Rockville, Maryland, wrote to tell me that she is planning to go down to Fredericksburg Saturday morning on the homecoming weekend. Handling this affair by mail is a cumbersome thing but if the girls from '44 who are planning to attend would drop Nettie a card so we can get an idea of how many to expect it would help in making luncheon or brunch arrangements.

Nettie wrote that it will be a wonderful opportunity to get away from her three Indians, Donnie, 9, Betty, 6, and Tommy, 3. The older boy is a cub scout and is taking saxophone lessons. Nettie asked about news of Emmy Lou Kilby, Ginger Sherlock and "Mac" McPhail.

Also in Maryland is Betty Taylor Cormack (Mrs. C. M. Jr.) 35 H Ridge Road, Greenbelt. She writes that Greenbelt is just outside of Washington, D. C. and that her husband, Bud, works for the Navy Department and travels about the country a good bit. Their Christmas card picture showed two, attractive daughters, Holly and Dolores, and a fine-looking son, Chuckie.

Another delightful surprise came from Loraine Green Gillette who lives in Fair Haven, New Jersey. She writes that she, "Bo", Marian, 12, and Richard, 5, have been residents of Fair Haven, N. J. for the past five and half years.

Lorraine keeps busy as a Girl Scout leader and president of the local PTA. Her favorite pastime is golf and was runner-up for their club championship this past year. She writes that she and Nancy Duval Andrews plan to attend our 15th reunion this spring.

Another year has passed by and we have another message from Frances Tracy, deep in the jungles of northern central Brazil. She is now preparing to go farther inland to the Waica mission station to begin her work of learning the Waica language so that she can teach these primitive Indians about the coming of Christ.

Rosemary Fairbank Bell (Mrs. Arthur S. Jr.) now lives at 5035 Alabama Drive, Woodland Hills, Calif. Rosemary left MWC in 1943 to go to Syracuse University where she graduated as a radio major in 1944. She promptly got married so she didn't have time to storm NBC and after a bit of scurrying around the country, courtesy of the Navy, settled in California. She has been here ever since raising three sons and a beagle dog. Mrs. Joyce Davis Pillow 285 Ramona Dr. San Luis Obispo, Cal.

CLASS OF '46

Congratulations to Vivian Wilkerson who received her "M. D." from the Medical College of Virginia this past June. Jeanne Carl now possesses a Master's Degree and teaches near Paulsboro, N. J. Lee Marsh Lewis, too, has acquired her M. A.

Harriett Irby Long moved to Atlanta, Ga. in September. Her husband and seven other men from Greenville, S. C. have opened a new engineering company in Atlanta. Her new address is 414 Springdale Drive, N. E., Atlanta 5, Ga. Dot Lyons Miller is proud to report a new address—41 Belmead St., Petersburg, Va. They (Dot, Herb, and daughter, Lisa) have bought a home near her parents and are glad to be living back in Petersburg.

Elizabeth ("Liz") Stallings Sharpe, along with her husband and two children, arrived back in the states in June after a three-year assignment in England where her husband was on duty with the U. S. Army. They are now living in Albuquerque, New Mexico, where her husband is assigned to Kirkland A.F.B.

Betsy Hillrud Morris and her hubby are proud of their son who will be a year old in February. (Am sorry to be so late reporting this item, but I can't pass the news on till it's sent to me.)

Ruth Boyer Rinker (Stephens City, Va.) and her husband had a delightful trip to Europe this past summer.

Mary Alice Janes Fisher now lives at 1801 Sherwood Ave., Baltimore 14, Md. She is teaching in a girls' high school there.

Muriel MacLeay Cloe has two boys and a girl and lives in Fredericksburg where she is teaching.

This past fall, my husband and I stopped in Chilhowie, Va., enroute to the Smoky Mountains, for a chat with Orle Robinson Bonham. The Bonhams (Orle, Jimmy and 3 children) have recently moved into a lovely new home in Chilhowie where her husband is in the apple business. Orle had been to a party in Wytheville in the summer that Kathy Reynolds Stark had given for Betty Moore while she was home from Miami University (Oxford, Ohio).

Kathy's husband practices medicine in Wytheville and they live next door to Betty Moore's parents. On behalf of the class of '46, I would like to extend our sympathy to Nora Russell Harrell and "Cat" Butler Boswell on the loss of their husbands. Nora's husband, Dr. Paul Harrell, was a dentist in Wake Forest, N. C., prior to his death in July. In addition to his wife, he leaves two children. "Cat's" husband was killed in September in a plane crash. She was from Rocky Mount, N. C., and attended M.W.C. our freshman year. The Boswells were living in Texas at the time of the tragedy.

It has been wonderful hearing from so many of you! I think we have an established column. Please try to include addresses whenever possible so the records can be kept straight. And don't be discouraged if your information doesn't appear in the current column—it'll be along. Space is at a premium. More letters, please!

Clelia Boushee Bullard has been living in Wilmington, N. C. for six years. Ray works for the Atlantic Coast Line Railroad and they plan to go to Jacksonville, Florida in two years when the railroad's new office building is completed. They have 3 daughters—Clelia 7, Britt 3, and Molly 1.

Eleanor Sullivan Lewis and Bob are in Chevy Chase, Md. with their two sons, Robbie and John.

We understand that Mary Jane McIntosh Young and family have now settled in McLean, Va. Floyd is working for the Westinghouse Corp. in Washington, D. C. Their children are Nancy, Bobby and Tommy.

Carmen Zeppenfeldt Catoni has been a wonderful source of information, complete with pictures. They had quite a summer. The baby had pneumonia and one of the boys fractured his elbow. Am pleased to report that all is well now and they are all happy in their "very own" ranch house, named Mayela after the patron saint of Mothers.

Carmen had a visit from Patti Head Ferguson in October. Glenn was attending a convention organized by the University of Puerto Rico. According to Carmen, Glenn is Assistant Dean of one of the schools of the University of Pittsburgh. Patti and Glenn have 2 boys and a girl.

Speaking of visits, Shirley Cole Schleter and family were up from Maryland in November staying with the Mim Sollows Wielands in New Providence, N. J. We had a partial third floor Ball reunion at my home along with the Mary Paasch Schools. Mary's Linda has started kindergarten now and husband, Dick, is teaching biology and chemistry in Butler (N.J.) high school.

Alicia Rivera is in Spain finishing her Ph.D. in clinical psychology. Dorothy Heid Gawley 177 McCoish Rd. Upper Montclair, N. J.

CLASS OF 1951

One lost member is located—Liz Womeldorf of Hamilton wrote from Offutt Air Force Base, Nebraska, where Bill is stationed, that she has a daughter and son ages one and four. Since they are in service she requests she be contacted care Rev. G. A. Womeldorf, 405 West Cook St., Winchester, Va.

Leah Patterson Mannel writes from Asbury Park, New Jersey, that she is married to an electrical engineer whose special interest is nuclear engineering. Her special interest in addition to the EE is ninth-month-old Barbara Jeanne.

By the way girls, we can't print all addresses in this news so if you want to get in touch with any of our class I have the complete files of addresses, such as they are.

Cyn Medley wrote asking that the girls in the DC area get in touch with her. She works at the Evening Star Broadcasting Co. as a record librarian. In addition to her job Cyn has been writing song lyrics. I'm proud to write that one of her songs was recorded by Eydie Gorme and the record sold over 100,000 copies. The song was "To You from Me". If you didn't hear it go out and buy a copy and give our Cyn a plug. Her address is 1954 Columbia Rd., NW, Apt. 106, Washington 9, D. C. Phone number at home Dupont 7-8686.

Another alumna in D. C. area is Kit Parker. Kit and Cyn see lots of each other, but would like to get together with other MWC girls.

From down Texas way Anne Zirpel Josefy writes that she would never have thought that she would even get to Texas much less live there. John visited D.C. (where Anne worked), with some phone numbers from a mutual friend and since then Anne has been seeing Texas as the wife of a Petroleum Engineer of Texas Company. John Mark is 2½ and Anne is expecting a sibling in March (all you Soc. majors can run look that up if you slept through Dr. Carter's classes.)

Anne writes that Marian Boyd is Mrs. A. J. Helper and has two children, girl 5 and boy 3. Marian had written Anne that Louise Ash has a little girl and Hope Alcorn has two children, but we have no married names or addresses for either of these girls, or Janet Scott.

Stace answered my letter to her in the Bulletin with news of her 18-month-old son, Alan and of her opening a new business. She and Linwood are opening Lachicatte Mercantile Co. at Pawley's Island. South Carolina which is a beach resort on US 17 between Myrtle Beach and Georgetown. She hopes all alumnae traveling North or South will stop by.

Stace wrote that Chic Chi Thompson Lively lives in Lynnhaven, Virginia and that she and her husband are active in Norfolk's Little Theatre group. They have two sons.

Last Stace heard Joyce Stoutmyer was director of Religious Education in Iowa City.

From Italy Pat Lancaster Curtis wrote that she and Dick and sons, Steve 4½ and Ricky 2, will be in Naples for two more years. They are taking advantage of this tour of duty to "tour Europe". The boys speak Italian better than their parents.

Pat wrote news of lots of the girls. Bunny Meagner has been married about a year to Arthur Bound, Jr. and they live in Arlington. Ginny Pierce Carmichael has one son and they are living in Loyale, Kentucky.

Jo Ridgely has had an interesting life. She worked in the consulate in Ottawa and then the one in Naples. She met and married an Italian and they are the proud parents of a son. Jo can be reached by writing Mrs. Aurelio Cinquegrana, Apt. 2E, 209 Bennet Ave. N.Y. 40, N.Y.

Fran Glass Conway has two children. Bob is out of the Air Force and has Conway Construction Company in Clinton, New York.

Andy Puryear Phillips (Mrs. J.W.) was telling me how she met Woodie. Seems he was a junior in dental school and she was his second patient. After completing dental school he joined the navy and they had a military wedding. Andy is teaching in Virginia Beach while Woodie is stationed at Dental Clinic at Little Creek Amphibious Base.

Andy wrote that Connie Kontapontas Cole lives one block from her and that Dot Wade Cabanillas lives in the apartment over them.

Jane Millard Danish wrote that she worked for radio and TV network after college days were over. She married her boss, Roy Danish in 1953 and during the first few years of married life they traveled Europe, Mexico, Bermuda and the U.S. She said domesticity caught up with her when Elizabeth was born in 1957.

Jane sent news of Barbara Dowd who completed her medical training and then married a fellow student. They have two girls and live in Alexandria.

Barbara Rush is Mrs. Gene Engender and lives in St. Petersburg, Florida. They have one son and are expecting another child in June.

Jane said she bumped into Donna Hankla in New York Donna lives at the Aansonia Hotel. Donna, please drop us a line as to what you are doing.

Ruth DeMiller Hill, 2622 Elizabeth St. Lafayette, Indiana

CLASS OF 1952

Lulu Hagburg Stubbs writes from San Antonio, Texas that Ed is at Kelly AFB. They have two boys. David and Douglas, ages 2½ and 4 months.

Nancy Gass writes from St. Louis that she had a serious operation. She is up and around again and would love to hear from some of you girls. Her address is 6303 Southwood, Clayton 5, Missouri.

Betsy Lane Martin, 328 West 86th St. New York 24, N. Y.

CLASS OF 1953

Janet Swan Clements writes from Philadelphia that she has two children. Husband, Jim, is a doctor doing advanced study.

Jessica E. Tignor is a Lab Technician in the Nurses Quarters, Kencoughton, Va.

Nell McCoy Savopoulos, 85 West Union Blvd. Bethlehem, Pa.

CLASS OF 1954

First I want to thank those of you who have sent in news about yourselves and others of our class. The response has been good BUT there are still many we want to hear from. Anyone knowing the address of Meechi, Babs Wilson, Janie Vinzant, Dawn Van Buskirk, Rosemary Trotter, Pam Roberts, Marilyn Seifert, Helen Rearden, Eliza Mason, Faith Grace, Carroll Ferrell and Jean Armstrong to mention just a few, please let Betty or me know. ALUMNAE WEEK-END is April 3, 4. This is our FIFTH REUNION so how about everyone making a special effort to be on the "hill" for the occasion. We are going to reserve a place in town to have a luncheon on Saturday. So we can all be together. We will send you cards with the particulars and ask you to write in your reservation.

On with the news—Nancy Warner Heese left after junior year and Dave are in Baltimore, where he is in Dental School. They have one son and are expecting in April. The following girls left school after sophomore year: Anne Bailey Groves and George live in Newark, Del. They have two children. George is an engineer with duPont. Judy Martin Rogers and Pete are living in Bedlam, Mass. They have two boys and a girl. Sonny Archer Wright and Harry live in Decatur, Ga. Marion Hall Forcey is living in California and has three children. Dorothy Pappachristos married Dr. Bistis 7-6-58 and are thought to be living in Boston.

After sophomore year Marilyn Kroll Kaplan transferred to U. Va. She and Morty live in Great Neck, L. I. and have one daughter. Patty Picketts Wadsworth and Ben have adopted a boy and are living in Mt. View, Calif. Peggy Ogesson Cassell and Randall have bought a home in Baltimore where he is an engineer at Bethlehem Steel Co. They are busy raising four sons—Randy III, Danny, Jeff and Caly. More power to you Peg. Pat Seawell is in D.C. working in the Pentagon for M.I.T. Diane Lee finished at Vanderbilt Phi Beta Kappa and married Harry Kemker, a lawyer. They have one son and are expecting in May.

The following left after freshman year: Jane Bailey is working at a T.V. station in Youngstown, Ohio. Anne Williams Lawrence and Bill, who is a Navy pilot, are stationed at Patuxent River. They have two children. Cathy Martin and Bob—(married name?) live in Michigan. Cathy left after our junior year.

Jingles Kirkwood is thought to be married again and living at Ft. Belvoir, Va. Can anyone confirm this? Mary Jean Gary Jones and Gordon have a girl. Gordon is with the F.B.I. and they have traveled a great deal—Calif., La., Wash. Ariz. I believe they are in N.Y. city presently. Georgiana Spillman married David Lacey Stillman, 6-21-59. They are living in D.C. and Georgia is teaching in Maryland. Dave is a graduate of Dartmouth. Dee Taggart is in the mid-west working with an airline. Louise Robbins—(married name?) has two girls. Nancy Root has a new job in Boston. Pat Bainbridge Fischer and Bob, who has just made Capt. in Marines, are living in Concord, Calif. They have two boys.

Barbara Mensch Risher and Stephen live in N.Y. and have two boys. Marcia Craddock Frank was married to an M.D. in May '58. They are living near Wilmington, Del. but in Pa. Hennie Roberts McGonegal and Mac have a girl. Many of the class are expecting the start this spring. Please let us know about the babies when they arrive.

CLASS OF 1955

A Happy New Year one and all! Do hope that many of you are making plans to attend homecoming in April. Although we will not have a scheduled reunion this year, we want you to come in large numbers anyway. Do try to keep the week-end open. The most exciting bit of news came in the form of a Christmas letter from Dottie Booth. Dottie graduated from the Carver School of Missions, Louisville, Kentucky and accepted the position of Dean at Cumberland College, Cumberland, Kentucky. Her letter just burst with happiness, which I am sure all of us share with her.

Mary Alice Ratcliff is still in Atlanta where she is continuing research. She works in the Emory University Medical School with the chairman of the department of pharmacology.

Joyce Stallard Bruce, Arthur and family ventured north to Massachusetts this fall. Arthur is studying at M.I.T. and Joyce and the children are living on Cape Cod. They will locate in Boston soon. When his work is completed there, they will return to Blacksburg and V.P.I. for several years. Mailing address: Box 334, Wood Hole, Massachusetts.

Patsy Morris McVey and Robert, who is a lieutenant in the U. S. N., have been in the Philippines since August, '57.

We spent a very pleasant Christmas with our families, a treat for all of us. Our plans now are for the next year where W. J. will work on his Ph.D. at Ohio State. Look forward to seeing Chris Harper, Howis and Zella Anne Smith there. Hope to see many of you in April.

CLASS OF 1956

Before the next issue comes out, we shall try to get a letter out to you all, so that you can send us some NEWS! Thanks heaps to the ones who wrote recently. Will everyone drop a card soon, please?

Cyndy Thomas Bossard, Bernard and Thomas Hughes (July 25, 1958) recently moved from Orchard Park, New York, to their new home in Toms River, New Jersey. Bernard is an electrical engineer at Evans Rader and Guided Missiles Labs in Belmar. Let us hear from you again, Cyndy!

Had a card from Faye Hairfield who is an Eastern Air Lines hostess, stationed in Charlotte, N. C.; and also one from Connie Hook Felvey. The Felveys (Connie, Jones, and Laurie) have a house in Dallas now, she says, and send a "hello" to all from the Second Largest State.

Nancy Peel Isenberg and Jim are quite pleased with their little Bruce—nine months old now. They are in Andover, Mass., where Jim is a procedure analyst for Raytheon. He's also working for his degree in electronic engineering there. Good to hear from you, Nancy.

Susie Heap Trent and Tony are now living in Oceanide, California, and will be going to Oklahoma in February. Tony is with the U.S.

And, out California way, Corky Slater was engaged to Richard C. Gray of Chicago, Illinois, during Christmas vacation on Dec. 22. Dick is with Hearst Advertising in Chicago, but they met when he was stationed in San Diego. They will be married on August 8, 1959, and plan to live in San Diego. Fran Powers Terry and Jim have a new addition, born December 31, 1958. They call her Beth.

Just a word before closing—a reminder to pay dues to the Association for '58-'59. We already have two Life Members, and eighteen who are paying on life membership. Great!

All for now—drop us a line before April!
